CENTREVILLE, Virginia, February 16, 2009 — Astrocast.TV announced today that its online Astronomy and Space News program has been recognized for excellence and selected to receive two 2009 Telly Awards.

Founded in 1978, the Telly Awards is the premier award honoring outstanding local, regional, and cable TV commercials and programs, as well as the finest video, film and internet productions. The Telly Awards annually showcases the best work of the most respected advertising agencies, production companies, television stations, cable operators, and corporate video departments in the world. The Telly Awards is a widely known and highly respected national and international competition and receives over 14,000 entries annually from all 50 states and many foreign countries.

“Receiving this recognition is extremely gratifying,” said Richard Mathews, Executive Producer and founder of Astrocast.TV . “Our goal was to integrate visually rich media with a medium widely accessible to the public providing outreach with news and information about astronomy and space. “

Astrocast.TV distinguishes itself with its high caliber show Co-hosts Greg Redfern and Dr. Lori Feaga who are NASA/JPL Solar System Ambassadors and segment producers Dr. Harold Geller and Katie Moore who bring their expertise from a variety of science, space organizations and academia.
